

A BUSINESS SKETCH.

There is a State in the Union, and we weigh our words, whose future prosperity depends so much upon the efforts of its citizens as Nevada. Iowa, Kansas and Dakota will be populated with Swedes and Germans, whether their present population speak well or ill of them. They can go there and put up a sod house and get grub enough to live on with a spade and handful of wheat to start on, but in Nevada the case is very different. Before a dollar's worth of grain or an ounce of bullion can be produced, a very large outlay is necessary. In fact a man could live comfortably in older States for what it takes to start a farm or open a mine in Nevada. Now the moral is very plain. If we prosper, every body must do what he can to get capital into the State, and we don't believe anyone need stretch his conscience a bit to do it. If he don't know anything about a mine let him say so, but not give it a blackeye simply because he is not in on it. If anyone deserves a coat of tar and feathers just at this stage of the game it is just such a man as that. If a man has a poor opinion of a mine his judgement may be weak and he should not set himself up to decide further than he can see. If anyone wants to put some money into a mine the chances are in favor of opening up enough ore to pay expenses. We do not counsel anyone to be about such matters, but would certainly recommend that, in a case of doubt the State get the benefit of it. Another way to kill the State is to be in a continual state of war with such men of means as have been induced to spend money here. While such men are building big works and laying out money for wages and material they are good fellows, but when they get everything ready to make money instead of spending it the howl begins. The syndicate which is building the Austin and Battle Mountain railroad is one of the heaviest moneyed concerns in the country. They took over a hundred million of the last four percent. loan. The syndicate is composed of the firms of Phelps, Stokes & Co. and Hatch & Foote, all of New York. They have millions upon millions of capital to invest. They do not want to get up an excitement and make a deal and get out, but they want a permanent place for the money they put in. A place that is safe and that will return them a fair interest. They have one of their associates here among us studying the country, its numerous resources and peculiarities as well as the people, their disposition and character. The gentleman we allude to is R. L. S. Hall, who is now Vice President of the Nevada Central Railway. If he reports favorably on any proposition his word commands unlimited capital. Whether the scheme is a railroad, a quartz mill, a furnace, an irrigating ditch or a telegraph line it goes where he says so. Mr. Hall has promised the editor of this paper a look over the western part of the State with a view to making investments, and if all goes well with the Nevada Central it will be merely the entering wedge for much more important enterprises. It is needless for us to say that we hope to see all give Mr. Hall a hearty welcome and fair treatment, not only as an honored guest but as a business man. There is no use in trying to gull him or take him in, but like every other man he appreciates a friendly spirit and will meet it half way. Those who are so fortune's as to meet him will find a rare man. A man of heart as well as of experience and observation.

A JURY OF MARRIED MEN.

A man is being tried in Brooklyn for attempt to kill. The counsel for the defense challenged every single man off from the jury, and it is entirely made up of husbands. A quarrel with his wife led to the prisoner's act, and his counsel thought none but married men could take the case in sympathetically.

say that Mr. Flood is retiring with his millions from the stock market. The Post says: "Mackay and Fair are miners by profession, and will doubtless adhere to the Comstock as long as good prospects exist. They will probably shortly Mr. Flood's interest and carry on milling and mining." There is no better authority for the statement that Mr. Flood is retiring, than there is that Mr. Mackay is about to do the same thing. Mr. Mackay has repeatedly hinted at the same thing. Mr. Gillette, late of the Savage, and an intimate of Mr. Mackay, stated confidentially to one of the foremost men of the coast, that the story was true. Mrs. Mackay preferred Paris for a home, and her husband, New York. Business considerations tripped, and they will make New York their headquarters when the move is made. The probabilities are that the firm will hold to Union, and work it as a close corporation, letting other mines take their chances.

Quite a number of people in Reno are in despair. They believe that the Comstock is everlastingly gone, and that Reno, without that market, is gone. They have no hope from Washoe county mines, and no faith in our farming products without a market in the mining camps. This feeling is entirely uncalled for. The Comstock will all be booming within three months. Mackay and Flood are getting out and there is no bottom at present; but they are better off than to have a monopoly of the market. As it has the new men get their hands in, and get settled down to robbing the people regularly, everything will be lovely. The mines will work as many men and mules, and they will eat as much beef and hay as they have ever done. If the break in stocks cures people of gambling, it will be just that much better for the country.

PERSONAL.

Judge Cain has got home again. Lewis Walker went east last night. He will bring up in New York.

Gen. A. J. Hatch went below last night to spend Christmas with his family at the Bay.

Dr. J. A. Hunter was at the Depot Hotel yesterday and went on to Carson this morning.

Jasper Babcock and C. C. Stevenson are in town, in attendance on the annual meeting of the N. S. A. M. & M. S.

Trouble at Orona.

George Jamison was in town yesterday, having returned from Orona, where he had been in the employ of the Vandewater Mining company, formerly the Eagle. He reports that the company had just had some difficulty with the men. It appears that the pay due the employees was unjustly and purposefully withheld, and the men threatened to raise on some bullion belonging to the company. The men were paid, but almost all of them have left the camp. Mr. Jamison went back there last night to collect a balance due him.

Holiday Games.

Any kind of games are advertised to be found at the Palace hotel. Mr. Tomlin, the new manager, is making himself very popular by the excellent accommodations he extends to all lovers of sport. He has made a very comfortable place for visitors to spend the long winter evenings, and anybody that is lucky is welcome to come and win all the money he can carry home. Read his ad.

ALL ABOUT COMO.

A True and Faithful Story of the Condition of Things There

Como has grown considerably, and now boasts of thirty houses. Beers & Hill have put up a good, strong building, the upper story of which is divided into sleeping rooms and furnished with very good beds. Mr. Ely, late of Dayton, keeps a regular Yankee restaurant. Mrs. Ely oversees the cooking, and her two daughters wait on the table. A young man named Switzer has put up a livery stable, and has accommodations for twelve or fifteen horses. Mr. Beckman, from Fort Churchill, is building a butcher shop and corral. The people get water from a well about thirty feet deep, near the center of town. It is hauled to the further cabins in a big barrel loaded on a cart. The camp has about 150 men including eleven who work in the mill, six ladies and three Chinamen.

THE RENO BOYS.

J. H. Hepworth is running the engine in Welter's mill; Evans and Lawson, two other Renos, are doing carpenter work. J. C. Woodworth has gone to Sutro to work in the tunnel for a month. The mill is working very nicely. Mr. Welter says he has plenty of water for ten stamps. The ore works freely, and he seems to be well-satisfied with the prospects. A clean up will be made about New Year's day.

THE MINES.

The Eureka looks better than ever. There was a big cave the first of the month which threw down considerable rock, breaking timbers and endangering the men's lives, but it has been all cleared out and new ground opened since. There is no water in the mine at all. The mine is regarded as sold to San Francisco parties, although there has been no money paid and no transfers made. If they do not want it there are others who do. They have until Jan. 1st to decide. J. B. Shaw has been appointed manager, and everything is in his hands. All of the owners are interested in their claims, and they very wisely concluded to take a good thing when they had the chance. The North Rapidan is regarded as the second mine in the camp. It is the property of G. W. Keith, Recorder-Crowningshill and C. Hobbs, who have leased it until May 1st to Schaffer, Lemon and Hamilton. The ledge on which they are at work is very wide. They are already in thirty five feet and have not found the foot wall. The rock the whole width averages $15 a ton and is improving rapidly. The Star of the West has been leased for a year to Partridge who built the tallings mill near Washoe two years ago. The Chieftain is opened 200 feet deep. A drift east is in fifteen feet of ore worth over $50. The Great Republic has a tunnel eighty feet long which is crossing strings of rich ore. These are the only mines being worked. The South Buckeye folks are ready for business but are waiting for lumber.

The Reform Club.

In spite of the bad weather, the Reform Club's soiree last Saturday evening was well attended, all the seats being filled. J. C. Hagerman delivered an able address on the "Eloquence of Heroism." It was in glowing praise of that form of heroism which is often manifested by deeds than words. There is a silent as well as a spoken eloquence, and while there is eloquence without heroism, every heroic act is in itself eloquent. The speaker took the ground that true greatness is not the offspring of circumstances, that great men cannot long remain unknown, and that the want of advantages tends to develop, not to repress greatness. In proof of the principle that "the greatness or smallness of a man is determined at his birth," he gave many illustrations, drawn from the lives of celebrated men. In the course of his address, the speaker took occasion to compare Henry Ward Beecher's preaching, for effect and to please his congregation, with the heroic eloquence of St. Paul. It is scarcely necessary to say that the comparison was not to the disadvantage of St. Paul. Music, singing, readings and recitations followed the address, and dancing closed the evening's entertainment. The net receipts of the evening were nearly $30.

There will be no dancing at the soiree next Saturday evening, as the Club hope to give the public all the dancing they want at the Christmas ball.

More Holiday Goods.

S. M. Jamison & Son want their share of the holiday business, and their advertisement appears in another column of to-day's GAZETTE. Mr. Jamison went below himself, and selected the goods which adorn their shelves, and there is nothing in the Santa Claus line that he didn't get. They have playthings of every kind for boys and girls from the cradle up, and many things that would be acceptable presents to boys with beards and girls in long dresses. Their assortment of goods is very large and well chosen. They have many novelties in the way of portfolios, desks, writing cases, and other things too numerous to mention.

Hemp Labbitise.

The Indians are bringing in their winter supply of labbitise, much of which comes from Sierra valley. A crew brought in 400 last Tuesday. They were skinned and dried in the sun, and then tied in bundles of twenty to fifty. The ears and tails were untouched, and the effect is rather good.

ANOTHER BIG ENTERPRISE.

A San Francisco Company Promises to Work Mines at Pyramid.

Articles of incorporation were filed for the Pyramid Mining company in San Francisco Oct. 13, last, with a capital of $300,000 divided into 300,000 shares. Wm. F. Hale, J. R. Shaw, D. A. Lancaster, Chas. A. Bayly and John A. Emerson, all of San Francisco, are trustees. Negotiations have been in progress for some months between this company and several mine owners at Pyramid, the result of which is that the Buckeye, with 1500 feet; the Tiger, with 1500 feet; the South Blaisdel, with 563 feet and the Clyde with 188 feet, have been turned over to the new company, who pay all their debts, and give the owners sixty of Pyramid company's shares per foot for their ground. The Pyramid company is bound to put up pumps, hoisting works, mills, etc., within a year, or return the ground to its original owners. It is proposed to begin operations at once, and to work the whole ground through the Buckeye shaft, which is down 135 feet. W. E. Hale is President of the Pyramid company; C. A. Bayly, Vice President; H. W. Littell, Secretary, and D. A. Lancaster, Superintendent.

FIFTEEN YEARS UNDERGROUND.

A Clock Buried in a Como Mine Since 1864—Wound up and Running.

A man named Watson went down into the Star of the West mine at Como last Tuesday. In a drift on the 50 foot level, and about 40 feet from the shaft he came upon a heap of dunnage which he prospected with good results. The first thing he found was a roll of blankets, musty and rotten with age. Next he came upon two suits of clothes then pieces of harness and a razor and brush, a Seth Thomas clock with tin dial and wooden case, a bible marked Mary Jane Deviney, Sugar Creek, Armstrong county, Pa., one Sargent's Standard Speaker, marked J. J. Stanley June 6, 1863; a Webster's High School Dictionary and a copy of the census of 1860. The bible was printed in 1850 and the other books in 1860. The razor was spotted with rust. The wooden frame dropped off the clock before it could be got to the surface. It was wound up and started off as regularly as "My Grandfather's Clock" and has run ever since. It was run down when Watson found it. He is making a case for it and intends to keep it for a curiosity. It wore better than the books, which were very musty and the backs dropping off.

The N. S. A. M. & M. Society.

The meeting of the Agricultural Society was called to order at three o'clock by Hon. C. C. Stevenson, President, who made a few brief remarks. He said that the Society had suffered very much by the fire of last March and by a heavy wind which blew the roof off the grand stand. He recommended that the by laws be changed at this meeting so that assessments could be levied sufficient to meet the interest, etc. now due. He thought that if arrangements could be made for the next fall meeting, that before another year some aid might be got from the State. He announced that in order to hold this meeting 970 shares must be represented. The roll was then called and they were proceeding to business as the GAZETTE went to press.

Christmas Tree.

There will be a Christmas tree at the Congregational church on Wednesday evening, with musical and other exercises, preceding the distribution of presents. Though intended for the children of the Sunday school, principally, yet all who wish to do so are invited to send in presents for their friends, and they will be distributed from the tree. The exercises will commence at 7 o'clock.

The End of Mackay & Fair's Wood Yard.

About 50,000 cords of wood have been shipped this season by Mack & Fair. Over 31,000 cords have been shipped from Huffaker's to Virginia. The balance will be ordered up by the last of March, and that will wind up Huffaker's station as a wood shipping point. There will be no more cut in the mountains as there is none left to cut. The flames will be left to rot.

A Handsome Letter.

The GAZETTE job office received to-day from Cincinnati, Ohio, a big font of pen script type, which the foundry men say is the first order received from the Pacific coast. Katz & Henry are having a bill head printed with it, and are, consequently, the first firm in Nevada or California to get the benefit of it. It is very handsome and is taking like hot cakes in the states.

T. K. HYMERS INTERVIEWED.

The Two Noble Jacks Whose Sorrowful Voices are Complained of.

Last Saturday afternoon a GAZETTE reporter called upon T. K. Hymsers to see if he desired to make any explanation in regard to the charge of maintaining a braying donkey upon his premises.

Mr. Hymsers indignantly denied the statement that there was any donkey about him. The animal whose vocal peculiarities were complained of was a thoroughbred Kentucky Jack. So far from desiring to conceal from the public the fact that such an animal was in his stable, Mr. Hymsers boldly admitted that he kept two of them, and added that he didn't care who knew it. They were worth $800 each, and were as fine a pair as were ever brought into the country. They were doing a great deal to raise the standard of mules in this section and, he thought, they should be encouraged rather than suppressed.

In regard to the braying, Mr. Hymsers said some people had little musical taste and couldn't appreciate natural harmonious sounds. For his part, he dearly loved to hear Jack in the night. It made him think of Jim Sullivan, protesting against the assessor's valuation of his ranch. Mr. Hymsers thought there was something very impressive about the trumpeting of a Jack. It reminded him sometimes of a trumpet blast that knocked down the walls of Jericho, or some other place. As regards tar-and-f-a-hering his Jacks, Mr. Hymsers said the brigade were welcome to try it any time. He thought the Jacks would rather like it. It would be a good idea, he said, for the boys to commence with the hind feet first, and put plenty of feathers on them.
